Hello Everyone,
In follow up to the dust: I learned that rooms 338-350 had not been cleaned yet. We clean each room once a day from 730a-4p. Tony will inspect those rooms tonight and address any issues.

Subject: RE: Rapid Improvement/Executive Rounding 3N

Hello all,

I'm happy to be part of the Rounding process – I learned a lot in a short time! Walking with Mo and Ed helped train my eye to spot things I previously would have not noticed. (It was a pleasure to watch Mo in action with a patient and family; Mo, you are EXCELLENT!)

I think talking with the staff is great addition to Rounding. It shows there's a sincere effort being made to connect and get their input. The nurses I spoke with had positive comments, but I probably experienced the halo effect of a new unit and lower census. Their comments:
- Very happy to be on the new unit. Private rooms make a big difference.
  - An IRT RN compared 3N to 3W; said 3W is a very difficult unit because of patient acuity and small rooms.
- All felt they had the tools needed to do the job; and if anything is needed, it's quickly and easily provided.
- They love the new WOWs – the ease of maneuverability is so appreciated, along with the larger computer screens, and storage area.

Thanks for the opportunity; please let me know if you have questions.

Lisa
